Friday, September 11. 1702.

From the Hague Gazette, Dated Sept. 11.

Rome, Aug. 19.

ALL the Disputes about the Ceremony to be observ'd by Prince Borghese the Spanish Ambassador Extraordinary in his Visits to the Members of the Sacred College being adjusted; and they on their side having consented to receive him in their Rochets; on Sunday last he made his first Visit to Cardinal Accioli Sub-Dean of the Sacred College; on Wednesday he went to Cardinal Janson, who entertain'd him and his Attendants very Splendidly; on Friday he visited Cardinal d'Arquien, Father of the Queen Dowager of Poland, but to the great Surprise of the whole City, neither himself nor any of his Attendants had the least refreshment offer'd them. 'Tis thought that the Difference between the Queen of Poland and the Lady of the Duke d'Uzeda the Spanish Ambassador in Ordinary, which is not yet compos'd, was the occasion of his being so coldly receiv'd; The Queen has written about it to the Kings of France and Spain, and to the Elector of Bavaria her Son in Law. The Ambassadors of France and Spain have sollicited the Pope in behalf of Prince Vaini, to change that Prince's Banishment of 10 Years to Civita Vecchia, into one of 5 Years to Frescati, but he has not thought fit to comply, least he should give the Imperial Court new cause to complain of his Partial Kindness to the 2 United Crowns. His Holiness has been oblig'd to supply the extraordinary Charge which he is at of 94000 Crowns per mensem, to renew the Imposts on all sorts of Corn that is ground into Meal, which was taken off by Innocent the 11th, this Tax produces 400000 Crowns per Annum.

From the Amsterdam Courant, Dat. Sept. 9.

Nimeghen, Sept. 9. They write from the Camp before Venlo, that there is a great number of Sick and Wounded in the Town, which the French sent thither from Ruremond, expecting that Ruremond would have been Besieg'd, not Venlo; and that Baron Obdam when he came before the Town e'er it was invested, sent a Trumpeter to warn them generously to send away all their Sick to Ruremond, which they (suspecting the real Design of the Allies was upon Ruremond still) refus'd to do; but since they have been actually Besieged they have requested the same favour, and have been denied it.
